

Dr. Muhammad Khan conducted a session on how to write and identify a research gap effectively to the student of Department of Economics and Management Sciences. Dr. Khan explain various steps which are helpful in identifying and writing research gap effectively. These steps includes, understanding the research area, conducting a comprehensive literature review, identifying gaps in literature, articulate the research gap and finally validate the gap.

